The

TOWER

Manhattanville College
of the Sacred Heart

Purchase, New York

"Knowledge that loves in the very act of knowing, is wisdom; and wisdom, after love itself, is the attribute most closely linked to the devotion to the Sacred Heart."

TO REVEREND MOTHER MULQUEEN, WITH GRATITUDE AND ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF OUR DEBT, WE DEDICATE THE 1959 TOWER. HER DREAM FOR MANHATTANVILLE IS THE IDEAL OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION: CO-OPERATION IN THE ACTION OF DIVINE GRACE FOR THE FORMATION OF THE TRUE AND PERFECT CHRISTIAN. HER WORK OF LOVE IS THE FOUNDATION, THE ULTIMATE DESIGN OF THE MOSAIC OF MANHATTANVILLE.

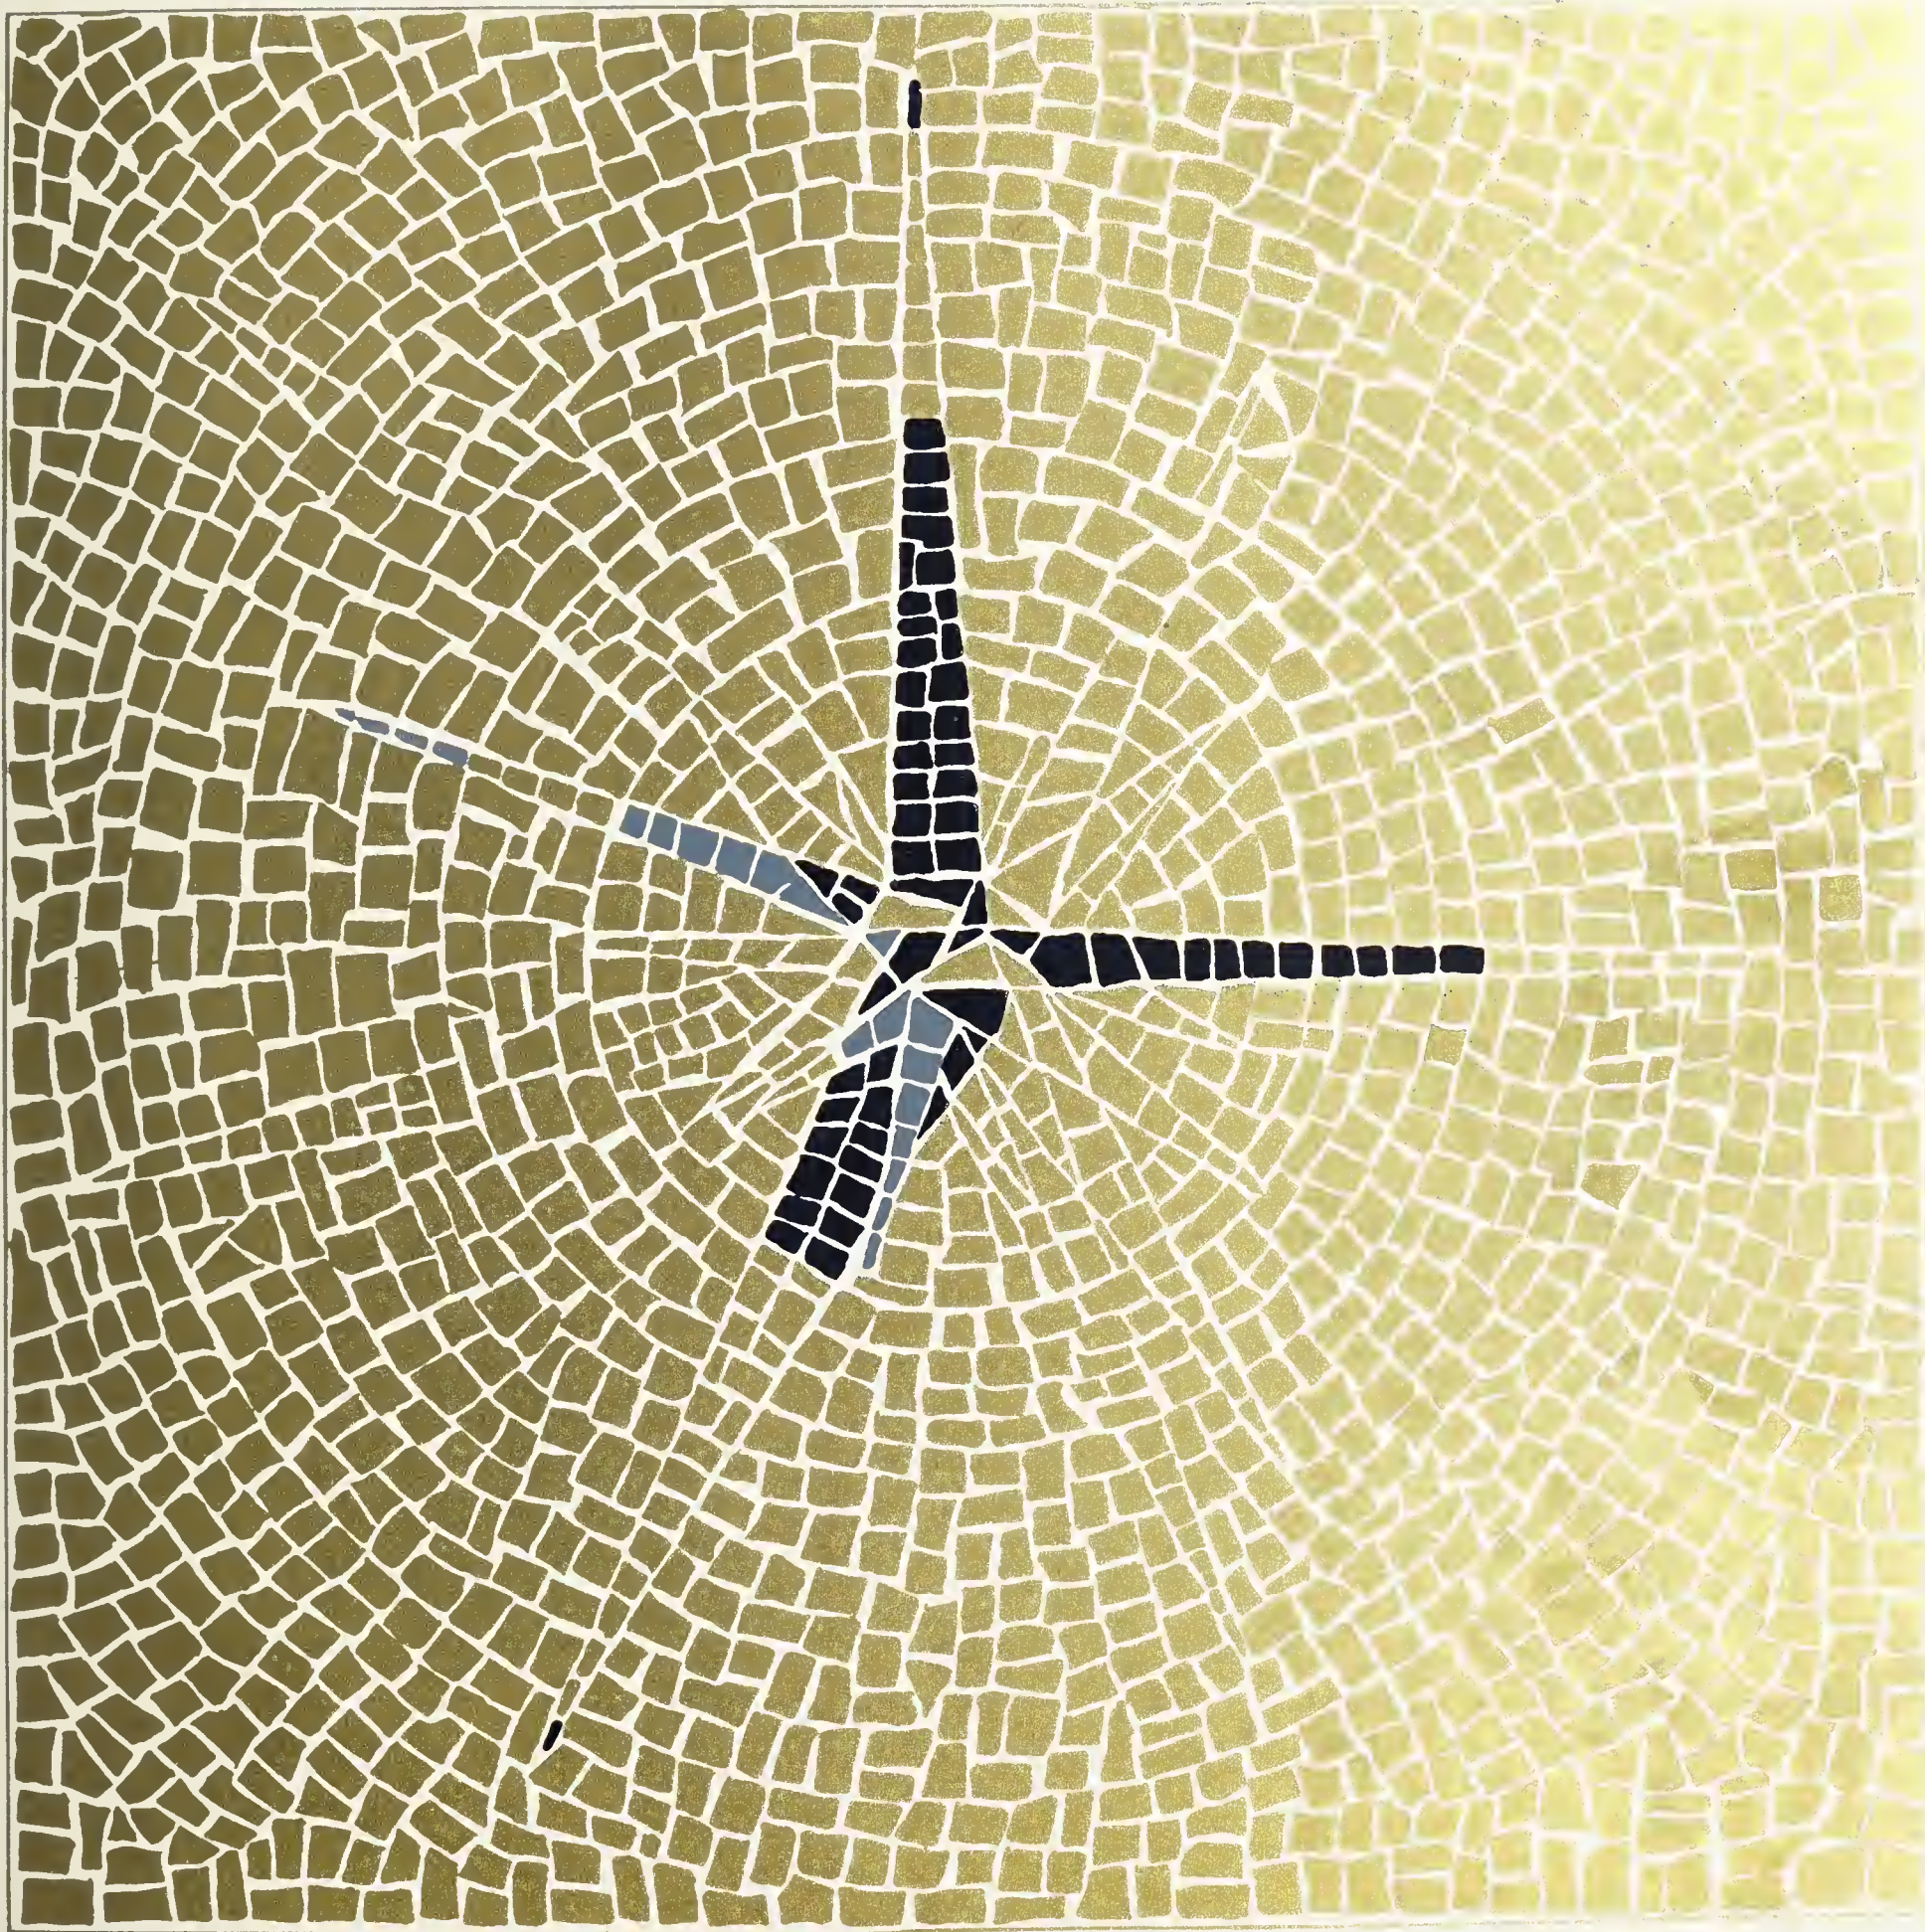

Presented by the Class of 1960

The execution of a mosaic is one of the most precise and exacting art forms. Its production is a slow and careful process: imagination not inhibited, but enhanced by the technical. It is a work of strength, not sentiment: it will endure. A harmony of the whole is reflected that is more splendid than the individuality of its stones, and yet it is upon these stones, each different in size, shape, tone, that the beauty of the whole depends. Each stone has its own value, considered apart, but this value is fully realized only when it is contrasted with and complemented by the others in the total design. In the entirety of a mosaic we can see potential widened by participation, and the difference is emphasized between loneliness and standing alone. Every stone has its own place, and only one place, yet there is freedom in the work for the startling, the intense, the swift. It must not be a static creation.

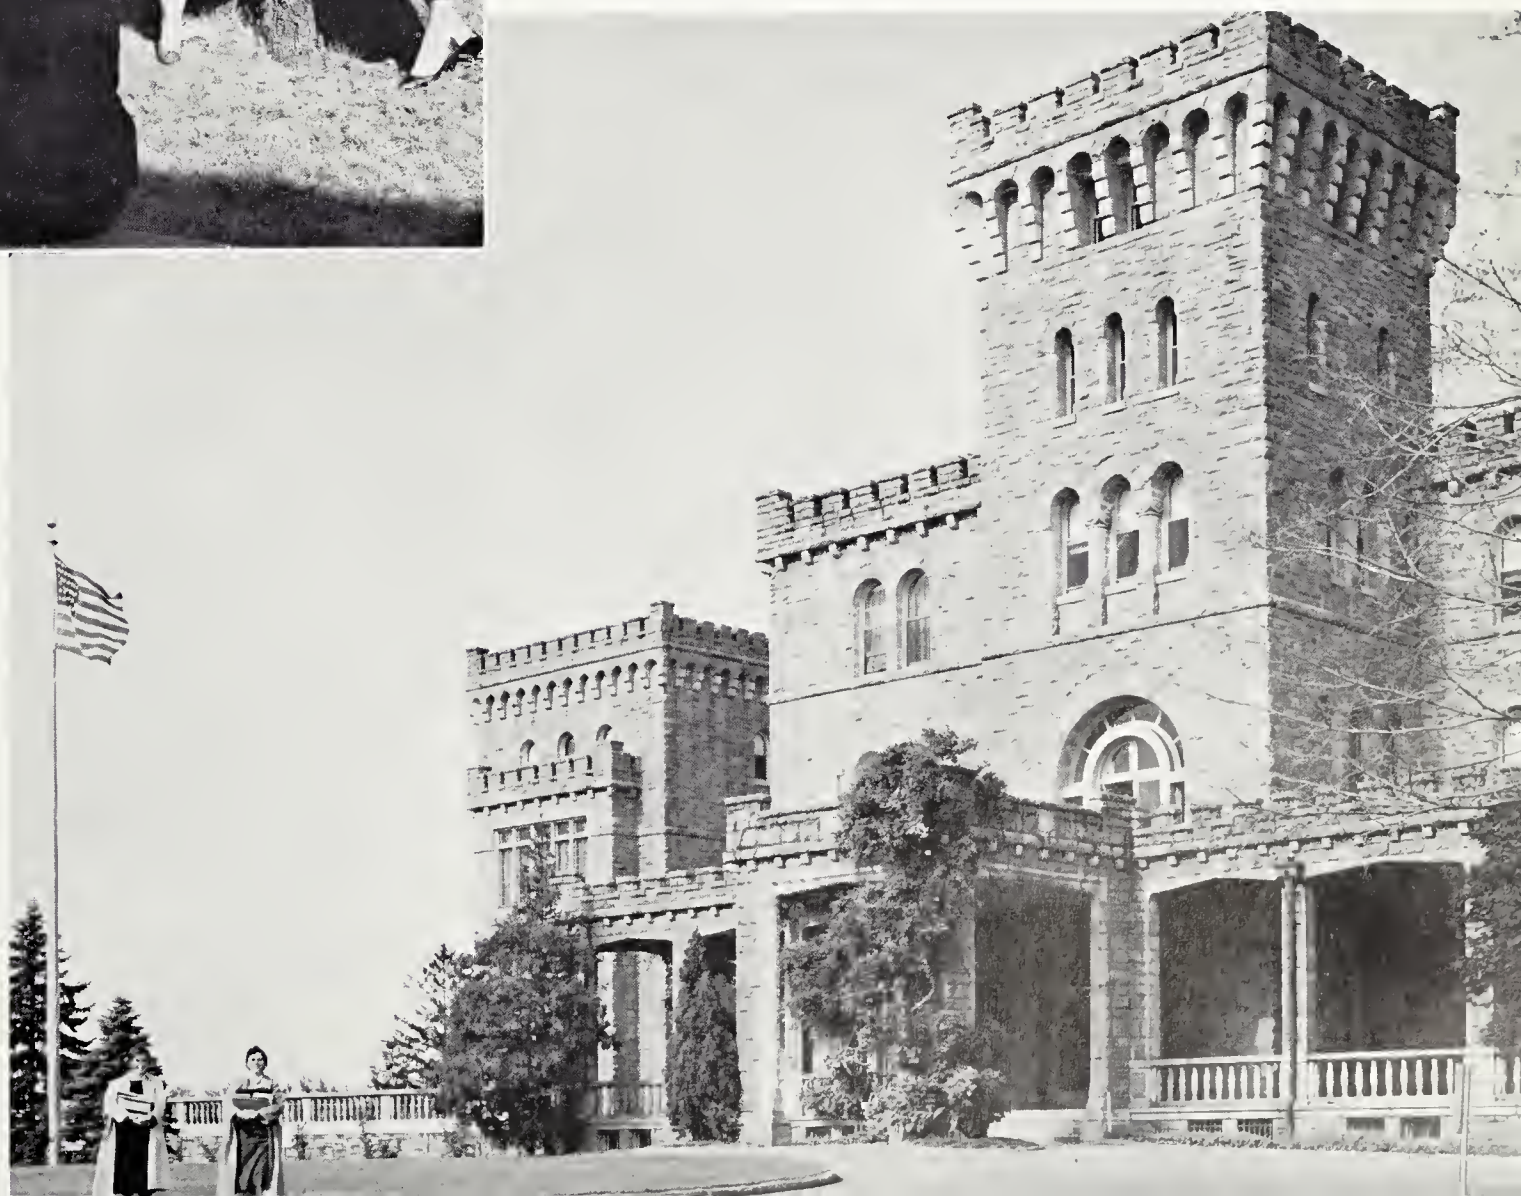

The mosaic embodies the tradition of great empires—of cultures, religious and aesthetic, that are ours today—and yet is not limited by that tradition. Beneath the intricacy of its design lies the conception of the artist; the character of the final effect is his as well as that of the materials he has used. The tools are many that have made the mosaic what it is and what it will become: those that cut the stones, those that round and polish them, those that fit them into place and hold them there. But because of the frailty of the component parts, the perfect work the artist dreamed of is not realized immediately; it is time that softens colors, defines the pattern.

Because the color gold, most brilliant, richest, reconciles and unifies the contrasting colors of a mosaic, and because each stone has been chosen for its own capacity to absorb and reflect light, this art form uses light in its fullest purity. The splendour of the creation depends upon the quality and quantity of light the stones diffuse. In such a way the love of the Sacred Heart illuminates the mosaic of Manhattanville:—His love is our strength and it is our completion.

FRESHMEN

Outsiders in September, the Freshmen were soon enthusiastically becoming insiders. "Take me to your leader" was the password of Orientation Week, as groups met, and met, and met. Vogue arrived with the class—the Handbook dramatized (in basic black, of course). Part of Orientation was "mixing," Manhattanville style. With the addition of the Sophomores to the already confusing scene came Black Day, comments by Miss Cave, and "mattress inspection on the roof."

Closed election weekend seemed interminable, but was worth it—Liz, Rosie, and Barbara were "inside" Student Government. Despite plane strikes and low ceilings, roast turkey and football games provided a welcome break. A tense two weeks before Christmas followed. "Smile. You're on television." The 10:00 rule didn't. Freshmen applauded Conny Fagan and Virginia Bennett—Essayists. The long khaki line at lunch waited—and waited, occasionally going upstairs to move chairs.

Grey January mornings brought blue books—alternate seating, please. No breakage at Stowe, but casts around campus attested to slippery Spellman slopes. All noted that your "Hearts Were Young and Gay" . . . a little weary too? Ask Barbara, Caren, and Ellen.

Now insiders, thanks to Mothers Hargrove and Morgan, the Class of 1962 enthusiastically anticipates the next giant step.

SOPHOMORES

September brought the Class of 1961 back to Purchase in undisputed reign over Spellman Hall. It brought new privileges and new responsibilities—from the confronting of survey courses to selecting curtains to complement alarming color schemes. There were hordes of Freshmen to initiate into the complexities of college life, and "Big Sister is watching you" became the by-word for a week.

The house divided managed to stand: one-third of the class, exiled in Founder's Hall joined the others for long study sessions, bridge, and New York trips for symphonies and shopping. Study paid off—the record for Dean's List members was won. In the entertainment world, Peggy, Jane, and Monika emerged as off-Broadway stars, while Denise scored with choreography for the Fordham show. In the process of becoming tradition were Dodie's peanut butter and Moira's mimicry. One hundred chickens arrived (C.O.D.) to start Riley's Poultry Farm, and February tennis to preface a Bermuda tan was introduced.

Spring was sun, study, and Serenades—masterminded by Anne Riley, financially managed by Liz Grady, and Toscanini-ed by Anne Buckley. Boggsie, Anne, and Dodie augmented Student Government and, joining with Mother Whalen, led the Class of 1961 "with eager step and restless song."

"... but we're friendly."

For the Class of 1960, Junior year meant the new and enjoyable privileges of being upperclassmen, but the old traditions remained: Thursday nights still meant choruses of "Happy Birthday, Mary Anne," and Moira's Room was bequeathed to the Sophomores. Lanny and Clay inherited Sylvia's guitar book, and sang their way into the hearts of dozens, while the King bonged, and gave to Hall Committee speechmaking the ol' bezazz.

The motto for Moira's Orientation Week was "follow the fold" and Freshmen were introduced to the Purchase state of mind. On the lighter side, Jerri Hoza's innocent miscalculation paid off. Several earnest students signed up for meteorology on the roof—one credit. Business acumen continued to develop the Development Fund and kept a corner on the PB&J concession. Overheard "Is Pearl Harbor in Florida? Spain in South America?" while summers in Europe were planned. The Grundoons of 1960 triumphed at hockey, spurred on by a "ticker-tape" parade. Peggy Burke brought home the laurels for her Spirited role in the Fordham show. Organization students who were often notoriously disorganized rallied around the Tower Board, typing, driving, fund-raising, and encouraging. Anne, Luise, and Margot led, as Mother Dowd's Class of 1960 moved along the road to seniority and Having Faces.

SENIORS

The Innovators of 1959 began life at Purchase in organized chaos and Simple Slovenly Slavery but soon developed their Cheer-Up Committee—dressing for dinner Charles Addams style. A record harvest of 188 demerits was reaped in one night, and Margaret Miner's five minute summary of WAR AND PEACE highlighted the Freshman Show. Already they were in full pursuit of the new and the different.

Sophomore year brought the last of Deerfield, and "I'm Just a Girl Who Cain't Say No" became a hit record. Freshmen were gently hazed—"You may call me Miss Kurth." There were Calypso parties in the lounge, and tulips mysteriously disappeared from Patricia Murphy's. Playbill Serenades climaxed the year, featuring Freddy and Casey. And the tradition of deadlocked elections was begun.

The Junior students of Christian Holiness were not above a bo-ho picnic at Saxon Woods. "Seeds of Contemplation" baffled the judges and gleaned first prize at the English Club costume party. TOWER architect Virginia Duffy put a new face on The Book. And there were elections, elections, and more elections.

Senior year was, above all, a frantic pursuit of a thesis—from Old English ballads to young American rats. With Mother Bourneuf's guarding and guiding, Dale, Marcia, and Debby took our school leadership, and Dale became an Innovator by announcing her own betrothal. A Hallowe'en parade was interrupted by fire drill (with red flags), and an Ugly Contest immortalized Denny—"But I AM your blind date." On to Graduation, with a new high in plans for graduate study—the Class of 1959 continues to Innovate.

Children of Mary

The sodality comprises those students who are drawn to it by a desire to deepen their spiritual life in total consecration to Our Lady. Their ideal is to carry out, following her example, the plan of the Sacred Heart both for themselves as individuals, and for the world. With Sue Dale as President, the sodality serves to develop the spiritual insight of its members and of the student body through an active apostolate.

S. Dale, PRESIDENT.

C. Pratt, F. Cartwright, M. Reardon, D. Doyle, C. Scott, S. Moran.

Student Government

On the twelve elected members of Student Government falls the responsibility of college leadership, not only in the enforcement of discipline but in the initiation of ideas, programs, and traditions. This year, under Dale's popular and capable regime, with the assistance of Mother Dowd, Student Government emerged from the Leadership Conference as campus-coordinators of the "Awareness" Campaign. In the new Assembly Program, guest speakers were invited to discuss current political, military, and social issues, while various student panels were organized. As the culmination of the year's activity came the new constitution, ensuring that the chief organ of Manhattanville's self government will continue to grow with the College.

Welfare

This committee of twelve was established to determine standards of living at Manhattanville, and to promote good college citizenship, especially in the social realm. As an organ of Student Government, they have set the norm of dress and decorum. With their efficient chairman, Mary Reilly, they served as hostesses at the annual Faculty-Welfare Luncheon. Welfare plays an important and indispensable part in the formation of the Manhattanville woman.

A. Byrne, D. Illig, L. Ahrens, M. Leary, C. Scott,

Steering Committee

This central clearing-house acts as mediator between the class and college councils. Selecting topics which pertain to the whole, they arrange agendas for discussion by representatives of the entire college. Among this year's achievements were the organization of the self-study program and revision of the honor code.

Hall Committees

In Spellman and Founder's, Hall Committees were initiated for the benefit of the dorm-dwellers. Their members, headed by Sue Moran and Clare Pratt, are elected in proportion to the number of each class in the dorms. They provide entertaining and educational Friday evening discussions, Reading Rooms with a library of magazines and paperbacks, and sponsored a snowball fight.

Catholic Action Council

The Council's theme, "You are God's hands," is actualized in their work at various Westchester charitable institutions and on campus, in the Catechetical, Braille, Family Life and Catholic Talkers groups. Christmas baskets are supervised by the members, and there is a special financial section for student collections. With Mother Whalen as moderator, and Sheila Werrell as president, they capably direct the college's apostolic work.

Brownson Honor Society

The members of the Honor Society are nominated by the faculty, and accepted on the basis of a written examination. Once a semester they meet with their moderator, Mother Brady, and guest members of the faculty to broaden understanding of their intellectual responsibilities. This year's discussions centered around the moral bounds of genius, and the relation of religion to creativity.

Faculty-Student Committee

The eleven members of this Committee, including delegates from Student Government and Welfare, work to develop academic co-ordination by promoting better relations among faculty, students, and Administration. By having students and professors meet outside the classroom to discuss academic topics, the potential of co-operation can be fully realized. Under Chairman Carol McKenna, the Committee's program for this year has been one of revitalization and of planning further activity for next year when the Faculty Building is completed.

C. McKenna, K. Cooper, A. Joy.

Curriculum Committee

Mother Fiske is moderator of this organization, which pools new ideas on required courses, honors programs, general credits, and major courses. Student members are elected from the Junior and Senior classes, and serve as a medium of exchange, on the academic level, between the Administration and those to whom they administer.

Glee Club

Singing for enjoyment and with professional polish, the Glee Club represents Manhattanville to the general public. One of our best-loved traditions is their Carol Concert, which captures the spirit of Christmas in the songs of many nations. Freddy's enthusiasm and Mother Morgan's zest characterize Glee Club rehearsals and performances at special college events.

N. Cashman, P. McCann, B. Bergman, K. O'Brien,

Pius X Choir

Diligent practice of the vocal elite of Manhattanville helps maintain the international reputation of this choir. The artistry of Mother Morgan and Millie's enthusiastic leadership have stimulated interest in both classical and modern music on the campus. Programs at Yale, Kenwood, weddings, and special campus events have encouraged lay participation in the liturgy, and their recordings are among the finest in the field.

Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club affords an opportunity for practical experience in the many aspects of play production. This year's major presentations were ARMS AND THE MAN and the RETRIAL OF CHRIST. Following the Off-Broadway trend to new and experimental works, the latter was the club's second American premiere in as many years. Dramatic readings were begun, while the traditional inter-class plays and lecture series continued to rate four-star reviews.

A desire to recognize the individual's need for intelligent discussion of significant problems motivates the Debating Club. Headed by Delayne Dedrick, this organization sponsored the Student-Faculty Debate and the Best Speaker's Contest. Their work currently centers around the theme: survival of national values in the world today.

Philosophy Commission

The exploration of the dynamic potentialities of philosophy is the theme of this commission. A series of coordinated lectures and "Let's Talk It Over" sessions have fostered the student's understanding of the problems that confront the Catholic intellectual. Superliminal announcements activated individual research and under Sharon McKenna, the commission presented stimulating programs culminating in Christopher Dawson's participation in the March Regional Symposium.

Dance Committee

With their usual imagination and enthusiasm, the Dance Committee succeeded in bringing the elegance of Vienna and charm of the Old South to the campus. Monday night meetings were spent planning a varied social calendar to complement academic life. The industry and inventive spirit of Nancy Shanley and her committee have resulted in many memorable evenings.

A. Perme, Vice President; M. Mullen, Secretary; C. Rosenberger, President; A. Buckley, Treasurer.

On-Campus Committee

Social events of an informal nature are organized by the newly-founded On-Campus Committee with Carol Rosenberger as chairman and Miss McMullin, Social Director, as advisor. At-Homes in the gym and dances after Glee Club concerts are fast becoming a college tradition. Their fall tea for prospective students, the cook-outs, barbeques, and square dance have put new life into the social atmosphere of Manhattanville.

Off-Campus Committee

The college's proximity to New York and the popular County Center afford opportunities for students to attend the performances of Tebaldi, Bernstein, and other famous artists. Fran Sweeney's committee has provided coveted tickets for such events, with the added luxury of a chauffeured limousine. As a welcome break, many reserve Thursday nights for plays, concerts and the Met.

M. Murphy, M. Young, M. Honold, J. Sullivan, D. Day, P. Patterson, M. O'Connor, A. Battista, F. Sweeney, M. Kane, L. Gilson, P.A. Sullivan.

F. Sweeney, CHAIRMAN; M. O'Connor, TREASURER.

B. Denechaud, CHAIRMAN.

Current Affairs Forum

A curiosity about existing political and economic conditions is exhibited in the monthly meetings of this Forum. To further our awareness as citizens, Republican and Democratic congressional candidates and the head of the Political Science Department at Sarah Lawrence were invited to speak on campus. With Barbara Denechaud as chairman and Mr. Conyngham as moderator, Current Affairs helped foster a sincere interest in world development.

M. Lane, P. Archambault, J. Richards, A. Cunningham.

English Club

Founded by a group of seniors in 1936, this club originally consisted of poetry, criticism, and writing units. In the past they have sponsored lectures by such renowned figures as T.S. Eliot and Edith Sitwell. Primarily a discussion group, they are headed by Sue Moran, with Mother Saul as moderator.

P. MacDermot, VICE PRESIDENT; S. Moran, PRESIDENT.

P. MacDermot, M. Pyka, K. Schoenfeld, E. Walker, N. Feitelberg, S. Moran.
SEATED: M. Haynes, K. Santone, V. Galotta, H. Duchak, A. Buckley, T. Pilarska.

Centurion

In keeping with the awareness program, the college newspaper broadened the horizons of campus reporting. Their issues included coverage of the achievements of Pius XII, National Education Week, U.N. Day, the Gubernatorial Campaign and our own Father-Daughter Weekend. Their aim, furthered by Casey and Marianne, with Mother O'Gorman, has been to print the news the students make or by which they are affected.

M. Eidenbach, Editor; S. Schroeder, A. Buckley, K. Creadon, Editor; C. Sullivan, P.K. Sullivan.

Essay

The eleven members of the Essay have revitalized the format of the college literary magazine. Maryjane, advised by Mother Brady, organized Monday night meetings, proof-reading sessions, and contest rules. Thanks to the imagination of the staff and the quality of the contributions, an opportunity was afforded for the talented few to see their work in print, and for the rest of the college to become acquainted with the thought of their contemporaries.

M. Murphy, Editor; H. Duchak, Art Editor; I. Bianchi, Business Manager; A. Walsh, Publicity Manager.

S. Moran, J. Vining, C. Rosenberger, V. Galotta, C. Fagan.

NSA

NSA informs the college of the opinions and efforts of other colleges, and prepares student leaders to meet on a national, non-partisan scale. Based on the communication of individual to individual, their program assists students to improve their own education. With Mother Clark as moderator, Barbara Higgins, Chairman, and Olha, Regional Vice-President, our campus unit organized an International Relations Seminar Weekend at Manhattanville with foreign student leaders as guest speakers.

Delegates to the Conference.

O. Dyhdalevych, B. Higgins, J. Severino,
C. Ducey, A. Bayley.

NFCCS

N.F. serves as a link between the Manhattanville student body and that of other Catholic colleges in the country. Manhattanville, the first United States campus unit, was the scene in November of the Regional Congress, at which Bishop Sheen delivered the keynote address. The Catholic student as a positive force in the educational community has been the central idea in their concentration on the spread of the lay apostolate.

M. Pyka, M. Kervick, F. Bannigan, A. Ginchereau, K. Bouscaren. SEATED: M. Doran, C. Sullivan, A. Russum, S. Dehon, M. A. Doran.

Athletic Association

"Organization with flexibility" has been the keynote of AA activities. Swimming meets, tennis and bowling tournaments, the Aquacade, class games, and the Varsities were supported by Liz Carr and her crew, with the generous assistance of Mother Sheehan. Presented at the Fall Banquet and Spring Tea were hard-won trophies and awards—a just distribution of laurels.

J. DeCock, J. Gilbane, A. Cunningham, G. MacLellan, D. Doyle.
P. O'Malley, K. Rooney.

L. Paul, Secretary; A. O'Donnell, Treasurer; B. Celic, Vice President.

A. Battista, E. Shaughnessy, M. Reidy, M. Young, T. Kiernan, P. Archambault, J. Severino. SEATED: S. Moran, A. King, B. Mooney.

Relief Committee

In November, the Relief Committee sponsors the annual Bridge Tea for the benefit of foreign students and various local charities. This year the fashion show featured parent participation, and the Pot of Gold overflowed with treasures ranging from a Siamese kitten to a racoon coat. Under Nan Wilkins, the Committee has helped the college become aware of its increasing responsibilities in the field of Catholic Action.

N. Wilkins, CHAIRMAN.

Science Club

Mr. Morissey's casual approach to his field gives the Science Club a relaxed but vital atmosphere which has stimulated scientific thought in the college. The highlights of this year's program were Mother Williams's roundtable on Astronomy and Mother Kernaghan's lecture on satellites. Twenty members, with Virginia Duffy and P.K. Sullivan as their organizers, adapt Manhattanville students to the space age.

J. Bowden, A. Walsh, P. Graham, P.K. Sullivan, H. Farrell, C. Tobin.

M. Fay, Y. Chang, M. Linera, T. Marble, P. Genachte, A. Bauza, R. Young, K. Szentpaly.

International Club

Togetherness on an international scale is one of the aims of this club. The cultures and political programs of foreign lands are presented and discussed in a personalized U.N. directed by Louise Chatel and Dr. de Arango. Student forums and lectures by such notable speakers as Irv Staelberg, have helped acquaint the college with cosmic controversies.

A. Carmelo, Secretary; Maja Plater, Vice President; L. Chatel, President; A. Sazama, Treasurer.

Poster Committee

The Poster Committee fulfills the need for Hidden Persuaders at Manhattanville. Eye-catching posters entice the college to lectures, dances, debates, plays, and the filing of course cards. With Anne Hills as chairman, they have provided clever and artistic publicity for campus events.

J. Van Haasteren, Secretary; A. Hills, Chairman; M. Ferguson, Treasurer.

E. McMahon, C. Scott, A. King, A. Carmelo, M. Cozzolino, S. Moran. ON FLOOR: H. Yang, M. Cullen, D. Donaldson, J. Vining.

M. Eidenbach, CHAIRMAN;
Mother O'Byrne, D. Day,
TREASURER.

N. McDonough, K. Gerst, A. Rall, M. Ferguson, G. Neuhoff.

Development Fund Council

Working in conjunction with the Alumnae Association and the Class Development Funds, this organization functions to make concrete Manhattanville's dream of expansion. The faculty, represented by Mother McCormick and Mr. Kirchner, and the student delegation, headed by Marianne Eidenbach, sent out 8,000 invitations to Christmas Carols, and planned the Father-Daughter weekend in April. Their drive and energy are laying the foundations for our future chapel and auditorium.

Dodecaphons

November fifteenth marked the debut of the Dodecaphons, eleven singers organized by Freddy Cartwright and Beata Bergman. From their first supper dance, this group has gone on to performances at cocktail parties, formals and informals, at-homes, the Father-Daughter Weekend, and a Yale weekend. A happy blend of personalities and voices, they enjoy their work as much as their audiences do.

B. Higgins, A. Perme, B.M. Sullivan, P. Grissim, S. O'Neill, M. Granito, R. Oliva, M. Castrilli, C. Pratt, F. Cartwright, B. Bergman.

Six Strings

Founded by Sylvia (on sabbatical) Simpson in 1958, the Six Strings provide entertainment of a highly stimulating nature. A sub-committee of the Beats, their favorite selections range from the plaintive: "Midnight Special," to the heart-rending: "Just Before the Battle, Mother," to the lovably trite: "I Have a Bonnet Trimmed with Blue." Their work is faintly musical.

B. Lovelly, D. Davin, H. Hellin, A. Gross, J. Schaberg, C. Dalferes.

Tower

The Tower originated about 1400. But of course that was the Tower of London. Then before, there was the Tower of Babel. There have also been the Leaning Tower of Pisa, the Eiffel Tower, White Tower, ivory towers, the Waldorf Towers, and The Watchtower. We feel a kinship with all of these.

The Manhattanville TOWER was founded c. 1928. Today, after many trials, we consist of 15 full-fledged members, Tiny de Saint-Phalle, and Ralph E. Honey, who augment. We are all fairly prominent, but Connie is most prominent, and thinnest. Our aims, we hope, are obvious. We came together by popular acclaim, and we hope popular acclaim will defend us now. etao in shrdlu.

THESE ARE WELDMENTS . . . hundreds of weldments, serving you.

Almost everything of metal is composed of many weldments of one kind or another. Our modern automobiles, jet aircraft, our missiles and rockets are prime examples of the contributions of welding to our scientific advancement. Refineries and chemical process industries which provide fuels and many of the components for these products also depend on welding for the strength and corrosion resistance essential to the service life of their process equipment.

In the steel structures of our newest buildings and the metal furniture that occupies them you'll find examples of welding that have made these products superior, more pleasing in design and lower in cost. Alloy Rods Company contributes materially to these and hundreds of other industries through the continuous development of properly balanced arc welding alloys.

The products of the future will always be a challenge to our research facilities and our experience and developments of today will provide a broader horizon for the imagination of tomorrow's designers.
